U. S. SUBMARINES TO BE BIG BOATS

Uncle Sam's New Subsea Craft Will Be Largest in the World.

STEAM FOR SURFACE WORK.

Vessels Will Have Displacement of 1,300 Tons on the Surface and 25-Knot Speed—Hard Task for Naval Designers.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The two new fleet submarines, bids for which will soon be advertised by the navy department, will exceed the Schley, now the world's biggest underwater craft, so far as is known, by 300 tons in displacement. They will be 1,300 tons on the surface, as against the Schley's 1,000 tons, and exceed by 200 tons the biggest of the cruiser destroyers of the navy.

Hard Task for Designers.
Congress gave navy designers a hard task when it said that these two new fleet submarines should have a surface speed of 25 knots an hour "if possible." The Schley will be a 20-knot boat when completed and will have more than 4,000 horse power furnished by heavy oil engines. Experiments in the navy medical bath with models of the new craft show that they will require between 8,000 and 10,000 horse power to make the additional five knots.

To Use Oil Fuel.
No internal combustion engines to go in the space available and furnish the power required could be found for the boats and the specifications to be advertised will propose vessels fitted with steam turbines for surface work, although the same storage battery and electric motor installation as in smaller craft will be used below the surface. Navy experts have worked out a practical solution of the mechanical obstacles to using steam and have no doubt of its success. The boilers will be fired with oil fuel.

BIG BATTLE ON SONORA

Supremacy of Northern Mexico
Depends on Fight Between Villistas and Carranzistas.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 22.—A battle for supremacy of Northern Mexico is under way in the state of Sonora, with hard fighting in two zones. General Villa's army is attacking Hermosillo, capital of the state, which is held by troops of General Carranza; General Alvaro Obregón, with an army of 5,000 Carranzistas, is attacking the Villa positions at Cananea.

As a result of the withdrawal of Mexican troops from the border the situation has become quiet and the war department has ordered the Twentieth and Seventeenth regiments to return to Fort Bliss.

STORM HITS LINER RYNDAM

Holland-American Steamer Runs Into 94-Mile Gale—Delayed Two or Three Days.

New York, Nov. 22.—The Holland-American liner Ryndam, on which Brand Whitlock, American ambassador to Belgium, is returning to the United States, has been delayed by terrific storms. Though it had been scheduled to arrive Sunday, it is probable that it will be unable to dock before Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. A wireless dispatch from the Ryndam states that the gale through which the liner passed reached a velocity of 94 miles an hour. The tremendous seas swept away the electric sign showing the nationality of the vessel and also smashed two lifeboats.

Vienna Announces Big Victory for
Austrians at Pribol, 20 Miles Southeast of Vicoegrad.

It is 30 miles southeast of Vicoegrad, the Austrian base from which the western invasion of Serbia was directed. It is here the Montenegrins have been hampering the Austrians by attacking the flank of their invading forces.

MENACE SERB RETREAT

King Peter and 50,000 Troops
Near Capture.

Bulgarians Compel French to Retreat in Southwestern Serbia—Take 2,000 Prisoners, 18 Guns.

Athens, Nov. 22.—Capture of Monastir by Bulgarian troops is confirmed in reports received here. The advance guard of the small Serbian garrison evacuated the city without fighting.

London, Nov. 22.—Every city and town of importance in Serbia with the exception of Ochrida is now in possession of the Teutonic allies.

South of Monastir and at Korum the Bulgarians are making furious efforts to press the Serbian and Anglo-French forces back into Greece, so as to precipitate a situation which will force the Greek government to take decisive action one way or another.

Dispatches from Vienna and the latest incident to the main Serbian army, 50,000 strong, led by King Peter and Marshal Putnik, has been surrounded on three sides and that its retreat is being seriously menaced by the advance of the Teutonic allies.

Although the German and Austrian war offices claim steady progress in northern Serbia they give few details of the operations. The Austro-Hungarian forces in the Sandjak of Novi Bazar are engaging the Serbian forces defending the mountain strongholds.

In southern Serbia the Bulgarians are marching upon the city of Ochrida, which is only a few miles from the Greek frontier.

The Bulgarian forces which captured Monastir are pushing on toward the southwest, while the retreating Serbs are fighting rear guard actions in an effort to check it.

Sofia, Nov. 22.—Attacks by the Bulgarians in southeastern Serbia have compelled the French to retreat. It was officially announced by the Bulgarian war office.

The Bulgarians have captured Sotnickaglava and Gostivar. At Giliati the Bulgarians captured 2,000 prisoners, 18 guns, 22 ammunition carts, 2,000 rifles and other war munitions.

LABOR BODY IS NEAR A BREACH

A. F. L. Votes Down Resolution to Suspend Charter of Carpenters' Brotherhood.

GOMPERS ON THE COMMITTEE

Will Try to Get Union to Recede From Stand Blamed for Hard Feelings—Carpenters Sit Silent During the Proceedings.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22.—The American Federation of Labor in the closing sessions of its thirty-fifth annual convention faced the problem of attempting to heal a breach in its ranks that developed at the session Friday night which, in the language of leading officers and delegates, threatened the disruption of the organization.

The trouble arose over consideration of a resolution that, had it been adopted, would have meant the loss of 200,000 members of the federation. The resolution, offered by the adjustment committee, called for the suspension of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, the second largest international union in America.

Enforcement in Charge.
The resolution to withdraw the charter of the carpenters' union was the result of the failure of the organization to refrain from alleged encroachment upon jurisdiction awarded the machinists, coupled with the carpenters' union's attitude toward the federation. In the course of the debate Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, said: "We are not safe from disintegration and failure if we lose sight of the ideals of human brotherhood."

John P. Lennon, opposing the expulsion of the carpenters, said: "We are not safe from disruption."
Andrew Furuseth, secretary of the Sailors' Union of the Pacific coast, expressed his belief that the carpenters' union was deliberately seeking to compel the federation to withdraw the charter.

Carpenters Sit Silent.
During the hour in which charges were made against them and speaker after speaker taunted them with bad faith, the big delegation of carpenters sat silent.

The carpenters' union was accused of repudiating, dismantling and setting up machinery in buildings in various cities, and with claiming the right to do such work, in defiance of the express commands of the federation convention in Philadelphia last year. Furuseth in his speech said: "I prefer the charge that the claim put forth by the carpenters is up set sentimentally and purposely to bring about expulsion."

Substitute is Offered.
George L. Berry, president of the printing pressmen's union, offered a substitute for the adjustment committee's resolution. He moved that a committee of five representatives of international unions, with President Gompers, be selected to attend the convention of the carpenters and try to get them to recede from the stand they had taken. Berry's substitute was carried.

DECLARES FIGHT JUST BEGUN

Munday's Courage Not Broken by Sentence—Says He Will Never Go to Penitentiary.

Morris, Ill., Nov. 22.—A five-year sentence in the penitentiary by a jury that found him guilty of conspiracy to wreck the LaSalle Street Trust and Savings bank with its losses of over $1,000,000 to depositors has not broken the courage of C. H. Munday, former vice-president of that institution.

"That's only the first round," said Munday. "It's a finish fight that's just begun, and I'll never go to the penitentiary."

BANDITS SLAY 2 AMERICANS

Reports of Killing of Cattleman on the Slaughter Ranch in Mexico Confirmed.

Douglas, Ariz., Nov. 22.—J. N. Hill, superintendent of the Mexican ranches of the Slaughter Ranch and Cattle company, has received confirmation of the killing of Henry Slat and A. N. Harper, American ranch employees. These men were reported killed November 12, by the Manuel Vasquez outlaw band. Hill says he will visit the ranch as soon as he receives permission of the Carranza authorities and make a personal investigation.

GEORGE C. CAROTHERS

George C. Carothers, special agent of the state department with the VII-ists forces, bids fair to add one more difficulty to the puzzle facing the United States in Mexico. Gen. Alvaro Obregón has protested to General Carranza, saying that Mr. Carothers "is dangerous to the tranquility of the de facto government."

PROTEST TO GERMANY

U. S. to Demand of Teutonic Allies Freedom of Seas.

Note to Be Largely Perfunctory—Demand is Aimed at Great Britain and Her Allies.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Noninterference with American commerce on the high seas will be demanded of Germany and Austria as well as of Great Britain and her allies in notes to be dispatched soon on the subject of contraband. The United States will vigorously protest against violation of the European belligerents in declaring virtually all commerce contraband. It will be largely perfunctory so far as Germany and Austria are concerned, however, as these nations are not now in a position to interfere greatly with American shipping.

The note is nearly completed, but will not be sent before it has been carefully revised by Secretary Lansing and President Wilson. It will challenge the right of a belligerent to extend the list of absolute contraband beyond the limits recognized by international law before the war. It will also sustain the declaration of London and reassert the right of the United States to ship food supplies to the civilian population of a belligerent country, if not for military purposes.

trict Attorney in New York.

Snowden Marshall, United States district attorney, declared that attorneys representing officials of the Hamburg-American Steamship company who are to be placed on trial for alleged violations of the customs laws, had filed concessions with him which will tend to facilitate the trial. These concessions name Capt. Karl Boy-Ed, naval attaché of the German embassy, as one of those who discussed sending coal and food supplies from United States ports to German warships raiding enemy commerce in northern waters at the beginning of the war.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.
Washington.—Att. Gen. Gregory issued a statement calling on the authorities of the states to assist in the campaign against conspirators responsible for attacks upon "lawful American industries and commerce" by procuring offenses, wherever possible, under state laws, and by turning over to the Federal Government all the evidence they have concerning violations of Federal statutes. The statement follows:

"Information indicating attacks upon lawful American industries and commerce, through incendiary fires and explosions in factories, threats to intimidate employees and other acts of violence, has so often developed during the past few months as to demand searching investigations and prosecutions."

PREPARING FOR THE "UNINVITED"

INAUGURAL DAY VISITORS WILL BE WELL PROTECTED BY OF-FICERS AT FRANKFORT.

UNIQUE FEATURES PLANNED

Crowd Is Expected to Be the Largest in History of the Blue Grass State.

(Special Frankfort Correspondence.)
Frankfort.—Arrangements for the inaugural day crowd, expected to be the largest in the history of the state, are progressing rapidly. Mayor Rupert and Chief of Police Mangan have communicated with departments of other cities and details of plain clothes men will be here from Louisville, Cincinnati, Covington and Newport as fair warning to "dips" and other kinds of crooks.

The music committee, presided over by Thomas A. Hall, of the state board of control, is planning some unique and entertaining features. The transportation committee, headed by P. P. Manning, is arranging for the parking of trains, so that there will be no congestion and no confusion in handling special trains, which will come in from Louisville and Western Kentucky and from Covington and Newport. The traction company also is preparing to handle an unusual number of cars into Frankfort.

Hospital Measure Again.

Bills appropriating about $50,000 for new buildings at the Eastern Kentucky Hospital for the Insane, which failed to pass at the last session of the legislature, will be again presented in practically the same form at the approaching meeting of the new general assembly, according to the statement of Dr. J. A. Goodson, superintendent of the hospital. Dr. Goodson said that he thought the state board for charitable institutions would probably ask for $50,000 for the new dining hall, which will enable the hospital management to convert the smaller dining room into wards, the sleeping and dining quarters of the several wards being in many instances in unappetizing proximity.

"Uncle Sam" Wants Husky Man.

"Uncle Sam" has come to the rescue of some of the idlers who constantly complain that they can find nothing to do, in the announcement of a civil service examination to be held in Frankfort December 11, for the position of unskilled laborer at the custom house. There will be no educational or written test required and the only qualifications upon which to base the decision of the examiners will be physical fitness. Applicants will be required to pass a strength test which will consist of lifting, shouldering and carrying a mail sack with contents weighing 125 pounds. Of course general character for sobriety and honesty will figure prominently in the decision of the examining board.

Important Opinion Given.

The provision of the tax amendment to the Constitution of Kentucky, adopted in the election November 2, exempting state, county, municipal, school, taxing district bonds from taxation, is self-operative and not subject to referendum, in the opinion of Assistant Attorney General Charles H. Morris.

The amendment provides that any law pursuant to the provisions of this amendment, classifying property and providing a rate of taxation on personal property, tangible or intangible, lower than that upon real estate, shall be subject to a referendum vote of the people.

L. & N. Must Pay.

Judgment of the Scott circuit court, for $659.46 damages in favor of Ellen Feeney against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, on account of the burning of her barn at Payne's Depot by a spark from a passing engine, was affirmed by the court of appeals in an opinion by Chief Justice Miller. The Chesapeake & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville were jointly sued; but suit was dropped as to the Chesapeake & Ohio.

Complaints Are Filled.

Alleged violations of the Sunday closing law by saloon keepers in Covington, Newport and the other cities in Campbell and Kenton counties will be brought to a sudden stop if the complaints that have been made to Atty. Gen. James Garnett can be substantiated by evidence.

Bill Is Favored.

A bill appropriating $25,000,000 annually to states in road construction, which would give Kentucky $750,000 annually, has been drafted by the American Association of State Highway Officials, and the Commissioner of Roads gave his approval, which will be introduced in congress at the coming session. In Kentucky, where the county and state share the expense equally and the state raises $600,000, the available road fund, not including county bond issues, would be $1,600,000 annually.

Fiscal Court.

The Morgan Fiscal Court has been in session this week with all members present. There were quite a number of claims to be passed upon but up to this time we have not heard how much business has been transacted.

Taken To Reformatory.

Sheriff L. A. Lykins took Roscoe Fraley to the reformatory at Frankfort Tuesday. Fraley was given an indeterminate sentence from one to five years for house-breaking at the recent term of Circuit Court.

Goes to Soldier's Home.

Col. Spencer Cooper, veteran editor of the Hazel Green Herald, has given up newspaper work and gone to the National Soldier's home at Dayton, Ohio.

Col. Cooper's wife died about a year ago and since that time his health has steadily failed until he was no longer able to keep up his editorial work.

Serious Accident.

While Caleb Williams, John Perry and Bob Oakley were moving a boiler and engine Tuesday the small bridge near John Carter's broke down letting the boiler fall about five feet into the branch. Williams sustained a severely broken leg below the knee, and Oakley and Perry came near being caught under the boiler when it overturned.

No Race Succeed Here.

To H. G. Perry, aged 43, and Belle Perry aged 38, was born Nov. 12, a boy—Woodrow Wilson. This couple has been married twenty years and to them have been born eleven children, ten of whom are living and all boys, an infant girl having died. The names and ages are: E. B., 19; Bryan, 17; Newton, 15; Benjamin Franklin, 13; Charley, 10; James, 8; Chandler, 6; Gordon, 4; Willie, 2; and Woodrow Wilson, the recently arrived.

Who Can Beat It?

Mr. H. A. Pickett, of Mattoon, Ill., who is employed by the Agricultural Department of Kentucky is authority for the following:

Shade Combs, of near Pekin, this county, shucked a shock of corn (12 hills square) which shucked out 246 lbs. Taking this shock as an average one acre will make about 122 bushels, and Mr. Pickett, who was present and helped shuck and weigh the corn, says it was an average shock.

The Courier has been preaching for years that 100 bushels of corn to the acre in this county was not unreasonable and that average yield ought to be 50 or 60 bushels.

H. G. COTTLE, Editor.

It is a hard matter to make an honest man out of a rogue or a brave man out of a coward after they have become "set" in their ways.

If an idle brain is the Devil's workshop and idle hands are the tools with which his Satanic Majesty works, he ought to do a thriving business in and around West Liberty.

To listen to the theories advanced by different politicians as to the cause of the slump in Kentucky's democratic majority in the recent election will be another case of confusion worse confounded.

If Barksdale Hamlett is defeated for Secretary of State the democrats of Kentucky ought to be profoundly thankful that he did not pull the whole ticket down with him. He was a veritable millstone about the neck of the party and cost it at least 5,000 votes in the November election.

Jo M. Kendall is credited with the remark that he was for woman suffrage because the women had caused the men to suffer long enough. If Jo don't get busy in the interest of the cause his beloved State is liable to follow the lead of Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania if the Legislature ever gives the people a chance to vote on the question.

The charge has recently been made that the people of West Liberty know no more about the financial condition of the town than they did four years ago. The persons making that charge ought to borrow a copy of the COUNTESS of April 1, 1915. A financial statement signed by W. A. Duncan, Treasurer, was published on that date, and it didn't take a whole page of the paper to hold it, either.

Come now—let's make the most of the situation. Barksdale Hamlett's enemies yelled "school book graft" and many other kinds of graft before the election. Jas. P. Lewis' enemies howled "schoolhouse foundation graft" at him, and so far as we have been able to learn neither has made satisfactory explanation. Now what are the people of Kentucky to do? Keep close watch upon which ever gets the certificate of election. That's all.

HYPOTHETICAL.

If the democrats don't profit by the lesson learned at the recent election; and if the republicans nominate Ed Morrow for Governor in 1919, what will be the status of the democratic party in Kentucky?

WHICH IS THE WORSE?

He who holds a man up at the point of a gun and relieves him of his purse is no more a robber than he who gets his goods and wares and refuses to pay for them. He who, under cover of darkness, goes upon your premises or into your home and takes therefrom articles of value and appropriates them to his own use is no more a thief than he who gets your labor and refuses to pay for it. They differ in degree but not in kind. If any difference the man who refuses to pay his debts is worse than the sneak-thief or the highwayman. He abuses the confidence of his creditor and gets his goods for nothing.

CHEER UP!

These are dark days for the world. The shadow of war is heavier than ever on all hearts, whatever their sympathies. There is little exultation even in victories, for we know at what a price of blood and pain every victory is won. But there are many things besides war in the world. Except for our active imagination, most of us would feel life running on pretty much as usual. There is the same sunshine, the same life-giving air, the same autumn colors in the woods, the same joy in bountiful harvests. There is the same quiet satisfaction of soul that has always come with the fall season, whether in country or in city. Here, in our American isolation, we can live out our lives in spite of wars and rumors of wars. There is need, to be sure, of taking a thought for the future, preparing against the time when war may bring home to us the wretchedness that we knew half a century ago and that Europe knows today. But that is a matter of calm decision, not for alarm and fear. We are today the most fortunate nation in the world. There is no reason why we cannot continue so. It is a good time for the nation to take to heart the philosophy that is preached so much today to individuals—the philosophy of confidence, of optimism, of positive thought. It is right and proper that we should feel the woes of Europe, and it is our duty to alleviate them all we can. But it is wrong to let those woes weigh on our spirits until we lose our own buoyancy and poise. It is better to regard the war as a doctor or a nurse regards sickness—as something to be cured, whose cure can be effected not through outbursts of sentimentalism but through intelligent and cheerful service.

Preparedness means to be prepared to take what comes.

His Recommendation.

"Want a job as a driver?" queried the manager of the City Coal Company, addressing a young man in overalls and jumper standing before his desk.

"Yes, sir." "How is it that you are through with the Wiarf Coal Company?" "They discharged me because I was too slow," replied the young man, fingering his cap nervously.

"No recommendation; I suppose?" "No, sir." "Johnson, has Burke started yet?" asked the manager, turning to the weigher.

"No, sir." "Well, have him drive the grays. Show this man Bess and Dan, and send him up to Tower Hill with the two tons for Bradshaw."

The weigher looked at the manager in amazement, hardly believing his ears, for Bess and Dan were the most valuable horses owned by the concern, and had cost $800 three months previously.

As the weigher and new man left the office, the manager turned to a police officer who had come in to leave an order for coal.

"That young man is a prize," he said. "The most careful man with horses I ever saw. Have watched him a number of times when he had a heavy load on. Always trying to favor his horses. Makes him a little slow, but you know your horses are safe with him."

"He is as good as a street inspector," said the officer. "I have seen him on several occasions get down from his wagon to pick up a hoop or a board with a nail in it. Could easily have avoided it himself, but seemed to think about the other fellow coming behind him, who might not see it, and have his horse injured. Twice within a month he has notified me of dangerous places in the road somewhere in the city."

Men like this teamster need no recommendation. Employers are ever on the watch for them. Some may be short-sighted and fail to appreciate their sterling worth; but where there is one of that stamp, there are ten who have noted their good qualities.—The Wellspring.

Life is a leaf of paper white, Whereon each one of us may write His word or two, and then comes night.

Greatly begin! Though thou have time But for a line, be that sublime— Not failure, but low aim is crime.—Lowell.

Eloquence That Was Lost.

Determination writ large upon her angry countenance, the mother of the child who had been bitten by an Irish terrier belonging to a neighbor (Mrs. Green) gave an authoritative "rat-tat" with the knocker at Mrs. Green's door. The door was opened by a meek-looking, elderly woman, and the vials of the mother's wrath burst forth.

"You're Mrs. Green, I s'pose," she sneered. "Green by name and green by nature, I should call you, to keep a ferocious animal like that there Irish terrier-torial o'yourn, a-bittin' of innocent children an' terrorizing the whole neighborhood. I'll have the law on you! I'll make you pay! D'you hear? I'll sue you for damages and 'ave that 'orrible dog shot by act of Parlyment, I will!"

Then, as she paused for a moment for breath, the old woman took a slate and pencil and said, in a mildly apologetic tone: "Very sorry, mum; but would you mind writin' it all down? I'm stone deaf."—London Answers.

"Daddy Was A Blue Blood."

This is the answer that the plump, sleek pig, calf or lamb gives to the scrub that inquires the reason for the difference in their personal appearance, weight and rate of growth.

"To begin with," says the better pig, "My master was a pure bred—no scrub about him—and he found that although he didn't have money enough to buy pure bred stock all round, he could secure a pure bred sire, and quickly improve his herd."

"Yes," retorted the scrub, "but what advantages does he find in you?"

"Quite a few advantages," returned the proud little grade. "In the first place I weighed more at birth than you did; in the second place I gain a pound on a trifle less feed than you do; and in the third place, when he takes us to market, I will sell for more per pound than you will."

What a Feather Did

At church the other night a man sat behind a woman who had one of those dinky little feathers sticking straight up from her hat, and every time the man moved his head to see the preacher the feather moved, too. After awhile he became so cross-eyed that instead of focusing on the preacher one eye fastened on Jim Simpson in the choir loft and the other had Jim McMurry pinned to the Sunday-school wall. Some night that man is going to carry a pair of shears up his sleeve and clear out all the shrubbery within his reach. It may result in a fist fight, but blackened eyes are preferable any time to crossed eyes.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Better for Him to Sleep.

The foreman of a gang of railroad men has more than his share of Irish wit. The other afternoon he was walking along his section of the line when he found one of his laborers fast asleep in the shade of a hedge. Eying the man with a stern smile, he said slowly: "Slape on, ye idle spalpeen—slape on. So long as ye slape ye've got a job; but when ye wake up ye're out of wurk!"—Exchange.

Men and Money.

Money in its acquisition and its dispersion is the outward and visible sign of the absence or presence of so many inward and spiritual graces. The most important part of a man's private conduct, after that which concerns his relations with women and his family, is generally that which concerns his way of dealing with money.—John Morley.

There's some mistake! Our name wasn't in the list of the ten biggest taxpayers in Montgomery. Anyway, we would be a bigger taxpayer than we are if all of our delinquent subscribers would pay up.—Sentinel Democrat.

GREAT WORK OF KENTUCKY'S FISH AND GAME COMMISSION

the Commission

When Daniel Boone and his sturdy pioneers came to Kentucky by the Wilderness road they found a land fertile beyond their wildest hopes, abounding with game and fish, upon which they were dependent for food and clothing. In reaching Kentucky, Boone and his followers found that the Indian tribes to the north, south and west had preceded them. To Kentucky the Indians made annual pilgrimage to kill their winter supply of game, which was found in great abundance and of splendid quality. At that time there was game in plenty for all, but the Indians looked with disfavor upon the presence of the white man, realizing that it meant the destruction of their favorite hunting grounds should they be left to occupy the land, so they stubbornly resisted by every possible means the advancement of the foreign hunter.

The Indian did not kill to excess and was determined that his happy hunting ground should not be destroyed. Their stubborn resistance made the name and early history of "Kaintuckee" typical of his Indian name, "Dark and Bloody Ground."

The pioneer, like the Indian, took only of this supply for food and raiment, but with civilization grew the sport of hunting for pleasure, and so wantonly was game destroyed by this class of citizens that thoughtful and representative men soon realized that if game was to be conserved for future generations, it was necessary to enact laws protecting them during the breeding season.

The first game laws in Kentucky, of which there is any record, were passed in 1822, and were for the protection of fish. In fact, most of the early laws were measures for fish protection. At that time all laws in the state upon this subject were local or county laws and remained so until the adoption of the present Constitution. Since that time all laws enacted upon this subject have been state measures, applying alike to each county in the state. To the county authorities were charged the enforcement of measures of this character.

To the average citizen there was little necessity for the enforcement of these measures; in fact, there was so little public sentiment for the enforcement of these laws that they were openly violated without fear of prosecution. To those who gave the subject thought, it was apparent that it was necessary to create a new law and entrusting to and charging others and specially named officers with their enforcement.

A bill was introduced in the 1910 session of the Legislature providing for the creation of a Game and Fish Commission, but was defeated. A similar measure, possibly wider in scope, was introduced in 1912 and enacted into law, which became effective in 1912. This law is found in its entirety in Chapter 35, Acts 1912.

To this Commission and its agents are entrusted the enforcement of the law and the restocking of fields and streams with game and fish. Authority was given to the Commission to appoint wardens throughout the state to enforce the law. Chapter 35, Acts 1912, made no changes in the then existing game laws, except that it provided that all hunters when hunting off their own land or that immediately adjoining their own, with the permission of the owner, should first secure a hunting license, for which they were to pay the County Court Clerk $1. The clerks were allowed to retain 15 cents for each license, directing that the remainder be sent to the Treasurer of the State, to be placed to the credit of the Game and Fish Protection Fund.

The law provided that five thousand ($5,000) dollars should be appropriated for the maintenance of the department during its first year. This sum, however, to be in the nature of a loan, and directed that the Commission should return this sum—or as much thereof as used—to the Treasurer from the first monies collected from the sale of hunters' license. Of the $5,000 appropriated, only $420.71 was drawn from the appropriation in the months of June and July, 1912. This amount, and the remainder of the $5,000, was returned to the state in August, 1912. Since that time the Commission has not drawn one cent from the state's funds for the maintenance of the department, and it is specially provided that the state can not give any further financial assistance, and the State Treasurer is directed not to honor any warrants drawn by the Game and Fish Commission unless the money is in the State Treasury to the credit of the Game and Fish Protection Fund. All of this fund must be derived from the sale of hunting license.

During the year 1912 a call for volunteer wardens was made, the Commission agreeing, should their funds be sufficient during the next year, to compensate as many of the wardens as possible, the selections for paid representatives to be made upon the merit system and without regard to political affiliations. The Commission is grateful to the volunteer wardens for their services and is earnestly laboring to develop a paid, competent warden service as rapidly as their funds will permit. The Commission is not now able nor will it be for some time—to have a paid warden service in each county of the state, but even if this were possible, they could not accomplish the ends that they so earnestly desire until they have the co-operation and support of interested parties and representative citizens, and by this assistance and co-operation is meant, not only their assistance in securing the arrest and conviction of all violators, but by giving out the information in order that the general public might thoroughly know the reasons and necessity for the strict observance of the laws.

THE CONDITIONS EXISTING IN OTHER STATES.

Hunting License.

The resident hunting license law is not a new departure and prevails in every state in the Union, except Maine, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina and Mississippi.

Every state in the Union now requires that non-residents have a hunting license, except Arkansas, and there a non-resident is not permitted to hunt except upon his own land. All of the State Game and Fish Commissions throughout the United States and Canada are maintained and operated by funds accruing from the sale of hunters' license, and in each state, as in Kentucky, the property owner is not taxed to maintain a Commission.

Combination hunting and fishing license, permitting the hunter and fisherman to both hunt and fish upon a single license, is now in vogue in fourteen states. Other states are sure to follow this plan, as in states where only the hunter is required to pay license, the fisherman is equally benefited, the funds being spent alike for the improvement of conditions for both, and it seems but just that the fisherman should contribute his part to the enforcement of the law and the restocking of the streams with fish, by which he is surely benefited.

HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGES

In May, 1914, we liberated 300 Hungarian partridges; twenty of these birds were sent to each of fifteen counties. The birds seemed to take very kindly to Kentucky, and many scattered broods were reported in the early fall, and in the spring of 1915 some reports were had of these birds. This fall we hope to get a report from the hunters that go afield that will give us definite information.

Odd Bits of News.

Mr. Vernon Ky.—Rev. Ezra Campbell is believed to be the oldest minister of the gospel in the United States. He is the pastor of three Baptist churches, has been preaching for 79 years, and holds the record in Kentucky as marrying parson.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—On the 4th of July seven years ago, Salvador Amati, then one year old, was shot accidentally by his older brother. Paralysis followed, and the boy died recently, after lingering for seven years.

Milford, Conn.—Ralph von Hacht, 23 blind from birth in one eye, had his sight restored when surgeons successfully performed an operation for appendicitis. The appendix had been resting against one of the nerves which connects with the optic nerves.

Shenandoah, Ia.—Driving five dogs hitched to an Alaskan mail sled, Miss Estelle Mason of Nome, Alaska is completing a queer world's tour. She finished her journey at Cincinnati, having travelled 32,000 miles. If she arrives at San Francisco with two of her original dogs and the mail sled, she will receive $12,500.

New York, N. Y.—Charles Frederick Fowles, wrote in his will that if he and his wife died under circumstances that made it difficult to decide which died first, it was to be presumed that he preceded her. They went down on the Lusitania.

New York, N. Y.—Jennie Reich, 22, a waitress, has been treated in hospitals more than 150 times in two years. She has been taken to three different hospitals in one day. Her malady is puzzling physicians who declare that every time she rides on a car or in a vehicle, the motion causes her muscles to tense so that she lapses into unconsciousness.

Baltimore, Md.—Steve Brown was rushed to a hospital here for an operation on his eye, which had been pierced by a piece of steel. A powerful magnet was placed close to the eye, the current turned on and the steel sliver came out. It was one-sixteenth of an inch thick and three quarters of an inch long.

Morgan County Bar Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Morgan County Bar, held at the court house in West Liberty, Ky., on Friday, Nov. 19, 1915, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Judge M. M. Redwine has for the past two years presided over the Morgan Circuit Court with fairness and unfailing kindness and patience; and

Whereas, This term of Court, now about to adjourn, is the last term provided by law during the period for which he was appointed, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, First, That we, the members of the Morgan County Bar, in meeting assembled, assure Judge Redwine of our sincere appreciation of the able, fair and conscientious manner in which he has conducted his courts and transacted the business thereof, as well as for the uniform kindness, courtesy and conservatism (often under trying circumstances) that have characterized his administration of justice in this county and district;

Second, That his consideration for, and kindness toward the members of this Bar entitles him to their lasting gratitude, and his faithful and fearless administration of the law commends him to the enduring confidence and good wishes of all the people of this district;

Third, That the Clerk of this Court be requested to spread these resolutions at large upon the records and deliver a copy to Judge Redwine, and that the Licking Valley Courier be requested to publish the same.

What have you done to-day that would help some other poor soul along the path of life? Have you spoken a kind word? Have you done a kindly deed? Have you done anything that would discourage anyone, or have you lent that helping hand that you ought to extend? Most of us are always willing to help, if we can make a show by so doing that someone else will notice it.—Carter County News.

Ninety Per Cent of Unimproved Roads.

Notwithstanding the strides made in road improvement, data furnished by the American Highway Association show that there is plenty of room for progress in road-building.

It appears that there were in the United States last year 2,240,000 miles of public roads only 10 per cent of which are classed as "improved roads." Last year the expenditures on account of road construction, including the estimated value of convict labor, made by states, counties, townships and districts aggregated about $235,000,000.

Ten years ago the expenditures on this account amounted to approximately $79,000,000 and the difference between these two sums shows that there has been a great advance in the demand for improved public highways.

But with 90 per cent of the roads over which the people travel and do business unimproved, it is clear that so far the surface has scarcely been scratched.

In the German Empire in Europe, which covers less territory than the single American state of Texas, there are 36,000 miles of state road and in Prussia alone the annual expenditure on the public roads amounts to about $35,000,000.

In England and Wales, less in area than the state of Florida, there 150,908 miles of public roads of which 27,826 miles are what are called "main roads" and 123,083 miles are included under the designation "other than main roads."

Five years ago the local authorities in England and Wales expended on these roads, not including loans which amounted to $7,915,664, $32,498,000.

In Florida, according to the latest available information, there are 1,752 miles of what are called "improved roads."

Among the many valuable services performed by the American Highway Association in its five years of its existence, an important one is that of squarely placing before the public the fact that only 10 per cent of all roads in the country are entitled to be termed "improved roads."

To bettering this condition there must be co-ordination in the efforts of all existing organizations working for road improvement, wise and uniform legislation by the several states, skilled supervision in the construction of the roads, agreement among the states and smaller political units as to routes and service, so that working together and building together there will emerge from local, county and state lines a harmonious system as wide as the nation itself and all to the immediate advantage of the whole people.—Coshocton (O.) Daily Age.

Just The Right Present.

Don't take chances in the matter of Christmas presents. You don't want yours, like so many others, to be received with indifference or worse, and ten days after Christmas to be cast aside and forgotten.

You take no chance in giving The Youth's Companion for a year.

Did you ever know of a home in which it came amiss, or of one in which it was not conspicuous on the library table or in some one's hands all through the year? It is worth while to make a gift of that sort, and it is worth while to receive it, too, for The Companion illustrates the best traits in American life in its stories and sketches, upholds the best standards in its articles and other contributions, and combines the the practical and informing with the entertaining and blood-stirring.

If you do not know The Companion as it is to-day, let us send you one or two current issues free, that you may thoroughly test the paper's quality. We will send also the Forecast for 1916.

Every new subscriber who sends $2.00 for the fifty-two weekly issues of 1916 will receive free all the issues for the rest of 1915 and The Companion Home Calendar for 1916.

BLAZE.

All persons who expect to hunt any this season, away from their own or adjoining farms, will take this due and timely warning that they positively MUST first obtain a hunting license. I shall insist that the judge in giving his instructions to the grand jury shall admonish that body to diligently inquire into all infractions of the fish and game laws; and during the coming session of the grand jury, and all other sessions, for that matter, I shall diligently request the members to inquire of each and every witness whether the witness has seen any person hunting away from his own or adjoining farms. The witness will not be asked whether the hunter had a license, for the witness would not know, perhaps. The grand jury will be furnished a list of the names of all persons who have obtained hunting license, by the County Court Clerk, and from this list the grand jury will determine who shall be indicted.

And even after the hunter has secured his license, before he hunts on the lands of another person, whether adjoining him or not, he must obtain a written permission to do so.

The lowest fine for hunting without a license is fifty dollars, and the fine may be as high as two hundred dollars. Even when you have a license, you will be subject to a fine of ten dollars if a warden finds you hunting without your license along with you. Everybody would claim to have a license at home, of course, and thus get away from the warden for the time being, and otherwise cause a lot of trouble. So go hunting with your license in your pocket.

It is unlawful to sell quails to any one, and any public carrier that ships them is equally liable with the seller.

Every law-abiding citizen is respectfully requested to aid the warden in enforcing the law. There are only two of us in the county and we can not be everywhere at once. Whenever you see any person violating the game laws in any way, you should immediately write me, at Blaze, or Mr. E. E. Elam, of Elam, Ky., and give the name of the offender, the nature of the offense, the date of the offense, and be sure to give the names of witnesses sufficient to "stick" the offending party. When this is done a writ will be issued immediately by the County Judge or one of the magistrates and the offender will soon be in the toils of the law. All fines collected from parties whom you report to us will be divided equally with the informer.

Many persons have a delicacy about reporting violators, but you should remember, if you are a good citizen yourself, that the violator of the law has no earthly claim on your protection. You are under no obligation to him to assist him in violating the law by refusing to report him. If you do not care to have your name "mixed up" in the matter, write one of us, and mention the names of other witnesses for us to use, and tell us to keep your name secret and we will surely do so; the law requires us to do so, in its application at least.

I appeal to the good citizens of the county to assist us in the enforcement of the game laws and the fish laws. Those very violators whom you are protecting by failing to report them, are the cause of our not getting a part of those eight million fish that were sent to Eastern Kentucky waters last spring. They made it impossible for us to get any of the twenty pairs of wild deer that our Commission bought for Kentucky forests a year or two ago. They are the cause of your getting no bites when you go fishing and finding no game when you go hunting. The game vandal with a breech-loading shot gun walks right on to your land without leave and wipes out your covies of quail, kills your rabbits and squirrels, and never thanks you for it. What obligation are you under to protect him from prosecution? REPORT HIM!

A two-cent stamp and the writing of a short letter is all it will cost you to put the "kibosh" on them.

You owe him no duty of protection whatever; but if you are a good citizen you do owe the Commonwealth the duty of reporting him.

So, now, let us see how many of those violators we can land in jail by Christmas. Stand by the warden and help them, and in a very short time you can get bites when you go fishing—lots of them and you can come back with a full game bag when you go hunting. Make it hot for the violator of the game laws and he will quit butchering your quails and squirrels and rabbits, and we can then get some deer for our forests and the Commission will stock our streams with millions of fish.

But this will never be done, remember, until the good citizens get busy and work hand in hand with the game and fish wardens.

Let us see who will report the most offenders. We will see that you get your part of the fines, even though you do not wish your names to be known in the matter; you will get your part of the fine money all the same.

Fish & Game Warden, Blaze, Ky.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by W. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
